INTRODUCTION

DEAR GRAD STUDENT,

Welcome to James Madison University! We are so excited that you have chosen to make Harrisonburg your home for the next few years.

As the Graduate Student Association, we wanted to be the first to share some “tips and tricks” on how to be successful within the graduate program.

The GSA is an organization made up of representatives from each department and graduate program on campus including Art and Music, Business, Communication, Education, and Health and Behavioral Studies programs (More on that later).

We strive to improve the quality of graduate student life at JMU by acting as an advocate and liaison between the University and its graduate students in addition to organizing social activities and events that help bring us all together as a community.

We have provided you with this resource in order to introduce you to James Madison University and to briefly showcase some of places, and organizations that help make Harrisonburg a thriving, inclusive community for all of its residents.

See you around campus!

Graduate Student Association Executive Board

PART I

GETTING STARTED

1.

SETTING-UP: (ID, DUO, WIFI, EQUIPMENT LOANS....)

STUDENT ID:

Your student ID card, called “JACard” connects you to various aspects of life at James Madison University. If you haven’t gotten one yet, head over to the Card Services Office on the second floor of the Student Success Center to get yours made.

You can also add money to it (called your FLEX account) in order to pay for food, tickets, vending machines, equipment rentals, and more!

Your JACard also allows you free entry to the University Recreation Center, and it's your library card too!

INTERNET – WIFI:

The JMU wireless network is available throughout campus in academic buildings and many gathering locations including the libraries and the dining facilities. You can connect to the network “JMU-Official-Wireless” from your device using your JMU eid as Username and your JMU password as you password.

More information and help here.

DUO AUTHENTICATION

Duo is a two-factor authentication service that is used instead of security questions to provide a second layer of protection to your JMU account.

Detailed information about how to set it up can be found here. If you are already on campus, you can directly go to the IT Help Desk located at the fourth floor of the Student Success Center.

Once your Duo is set up, whenever you enter your password for a JMU-owned program (such as your email) Duo will request additional verification from a device that only you have access to, like your smartphone or landline.

OFFICE 365, GOOGLE SUITE & OTHER SOFTWARE

As a student at James Madison University, you can utilize both Office 365 and Google Suite.

Simply visit their respective pages and log in using your Student ID and password. Once logged in, you will have access to a variety of services such as email (Outlook), word processing, presentations, and spreadsheets.

You also have access for free to other software packages like SPSS, SAS, Nvivo... You can get more information here.

NEED A COMPUTER, A CAMERA or other Accessories?

Students can check out a range of audio/visual and computing equipment, accessories, and peripherals. All equipment is available free-of-charge for both academic and personal use. You can find more information here.

JMU BASICS (VISION, QUICK FACTS, QUICK LINKS...)

JMU: BEING THE CHANGE

At JAMES MADISON UNIVERSITY, we are a community committed to preparing students to be educated and enlightened citizens who lead productive and meaningful lives.

QUICK FACTS:

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

International Students

If you are an international student, we understand that traveling to a different country with a different culture can be stressful.

Adjusting to new surroundings, customs, and languages can be overwhelming. However, we are here to make your transition smoother and more comfortable.

The first principle to remember is: NEVER BE AFRAID TO ASK QUESTIONS. Whether you think your question is silly or if you need to ask multiple times, don't hesitate. Asking questions is a crucial part of learning and understanding your new environment.

If you don't understand something, feel free to tell the person,

“I’m sorry, but I didn’t understand what you just said (or part of what you just said). Could you please repeat it slowly?” or something resembling that.

You might worry about bothering people, but most people are happy to help. People generally appreciate the opportunity to assist and connect with others, and your questions can be a great way to start a conversation.

So,

RULE 1: Always ask questions and don't be afraid to ask the person to repeat what they said slowly so you can understand.

RULE 2: Rule 1 applies everywhere and all the time—at the bank, the post office, in classrooms, on the bus, and in any other situation you find yourself.

Use the information in the “Setting Up” chapter of this handbook to get the basics settled, such as setting up your internet and obtaining your JAC Card.

You are probably already in contact with the International Student and Scholar Service \(ISSS\) housed in the Center for Global Engagement \(CGE\) located in HOLLAND YATES HALL. They should be able to answer any questions you have. They also have a page specifically for graduate students that you should check regularly for updates and helpful information.

For any concerns, feel free to email Thomas Lavenir, who can guide you seamlessly through any issues you encounter.

Here are a list of things you might be want to do when you arrive (probably in that order):

- Connect to JMU-Official Wireless. Log-in using your e-ID & MyMadison password
- Phone plan- Download the Mint Mobile app & follow the instructions + video demo– Android | Apple
- Open a bank account
- Obtain your JACard
- Attend the international sessions for F-1 students
- Login to MyMadison and complete your contact information section (mailing address & US phone #)
- Complete your SEVIS Registration
- Download your health insurance card
- Go to your academic department and stop by to see your

- GA supervisor. (1) Introduce yourself and find out what they need from you. (2) Get your GA supervisor to complete and sign the top section of your SSN Letter.
- Go to CGE (International office) to (1) sign the bottom portion of your SSN letter, complete the SSN Application, (2) complete the I-9, and (3) go over the SSN & Payroll Timeline.
 - 14 days after your entry in the US- Go to the Social Security office (301 N. Mason Street Suite 101 with your: I-20, passport, I-94, SSN application receipt & signed SSN letter

For any information related to transportation, parking, and how you'll move around, please refer to the transportation section of this handbook.

It provides detailed guidance on public transportation options, campus shuttle services, parking regulations, and tips for getting around the city.

Remember, it's perfectly normal for things to feel a bit overwhelming when you first arrive.

Adjusting to a new country, culture, and environment can be challenging. After all, you are in a place that is likely very different from where you come from.

But don't worry—this is all part of the experience, and you are not alone.

One last thing, remember Rule 1 and Rule 2 😊 .

GRADUATE STUDENT FORUMS

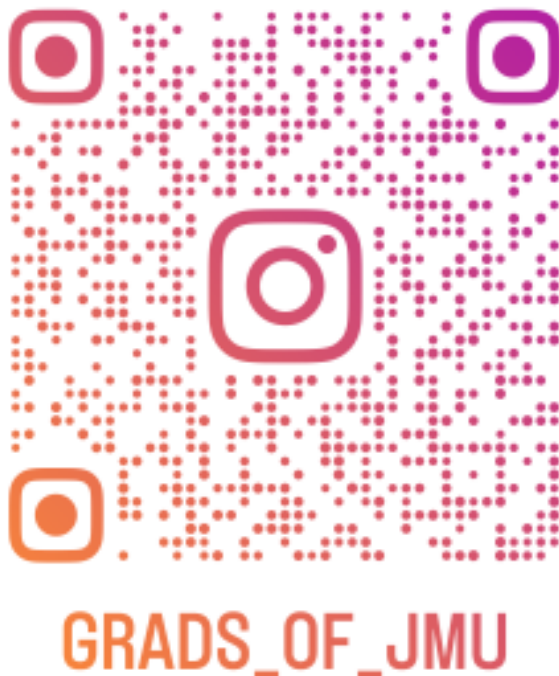

By virtue of being a graduate student at JMU, you are automatically a member of the Graduate Student Association (GSA). There are no fees associated with this membership.

The GSA organizes a variety of activities and events designed for graduate students and faculty to get involved, meet each other, and develop both professionally and personally.

These activities provide excellent opportunities for networking, learning new skills, and making lasting connections within the university community.

PART II

TRANSPORTATION & PARKING & HOUSING

5.

TRANSPORTATION AND PARKING

Transportation

JMU offers many transportation options for students, so it can be helpful to know which is best for you.

I do not plan driving

If you don't plan on driving a personal car around campus, JMU offers many alternative transportation options for students: bikes, buses, and break shuttles. Typically, most students without a car use the buses operated by the Harrisonburg Department of Public Transportation.

These buses can be categorized into two groups: those that operate within JMU and its immediate surroundings.

You can recognize these buses by their color-coded names, such as the Yellow Line, Red Line, and Green Line. These buses have stops at every apartment complex, ensuring easy transportation from your apartment to the university.

Then you have buses that operate in city of Harrisonburg as a whole. Those tend to have names with numbers. Line 1, 3, 6...

Each line follows a specific route, which you can view here or in the PassioGo app (AppleStore, GooglePlay)

We recommend carefully reviewing the lines that pass through your apartment and noting their operational patterns. For example, some buses complete their routes in one hour, while others take two hours. By familiarizing yourself with these patterns, you won't need to constantly check the app or a map for arrival times at your complex or other specific points.

If you want to travel outside of Harrisonburg check this page.

I have a bike / I want to bike

To bike around campus, you'll need a bicycle (unless you're a magician!). You can either buy or rent one. JMU offers a semester-long bike rental program for $100 per semester, with a $300 refundable deposit. More information can be found here.

If you prefer to buy a bike, check out Facebook Marketplace for affordable options in Harrisonburg. Just make sure to take the bike to a bike shop for an evaluation before making your purchase. You can also buy a new bike if you prefer here for example.

Note that you can put your bike in front of any bus and take the bus anytime you want to use the bus instead.

I have a car / I plan Driving

If you plan on driving a personal car around campus, JMU offers multiple parking lots and parking garages that are accessible to students. View more information about parking permits below.

Parking Permit

If you're planning on driving to campus, it can be helpful to purchase a student parking permit. Parking permits at JMU are done virtually, meaning you won't need a sticker or hang-tag for your car.

The 2023-2024 Student Parking Rates are as follows:

- Full-Time Annual – $300
- Full-Time Semester – $160
- Part-Time Semester – $80
- Evening Semester – $50
- Remote Semester – $50

You may purchase your parking permit beginning August 1st. You can order a parking permit here, and step-by-step instructions in ordering your permit can be found here.

Once you have your parking permit, use this map to determine where you can park. You can also download the JMU Parking App to receive real-time information on parking space availability.

HOUSING

On-Campus Housing

Generally, JMU does not offer on-campus housing for graduate students. However, first-year grad students have the option to live within Graduate Student Housing in 735 Main.

Off-Campus Housing

The majority of graduate students at JMU live off campus.

There are multiple sites and places to search for housing, but here is a condensed list of resources to find housing catered to grad students:

- JMU Graduate Student Housing Forum: Facebook group run by GSA to help graduate students find roommates and/or housing with other grad students.
- JMU Off-Campus Housing Site: JMU website that lists current off-campus apartments for rent near JMU's campus.
- OCL Housing Directory: PDF of common off-campus rentals near JMU.

If you have specific questions about housing, leasing, or living off-campus, you can check out the Off-Campus Life website and contact OCL through emailing ocl@jmu.edu, calling (540) 568-6071, or visiting their office in The Union Room 205.

PART III

FOOD

7.

FOOD AND DINING PLACES ON CAMPUS

Food & Dining places

There are over 30 dining locations open on campus. You can have a self-guided tour here. Although there are specific meal plans for graduate students, most tend to cook at home and pack it up, supplementing that with what's provided in the dining locations on and off campus.

The Pantry

The pantry is a really helpful resource for graduate students in that regard given that we often run on a tight budget. It provides, for free and no questions asked, a variety of groceries and essential items to support students in need.

Stocked with non-perishable foods, fresh produce the pantry ensures that every student has access to nutritious meals. You can find canned goods, pasta, rice, fresh vegetables, or hygiene products; the pantry is a reliable and welcoming place to get the necessities.

You can also use the pantry app to order online (for free). The app is available for download in the Apple and Android stores. You can find them by searching “JMU Pantry” or clicking the links above. You can elect a curbside pickup option or a rapid pickup option in The Pantry itself. Details on order pickups can be found in the FAQ section of the app.

Other Places

Edith J. Carrier Arboretum

The arboretum's winding woodland trails are beautifully landscaped with Virginia native plants, including rare and unusual species like puttyroot and lady's slipper, both native orchids.

Habitat-specific plants also thrive here, such as those in the shale barren rich with white-haired leather flower, spike moss, hairy-lipped fern, shining sumac, and the rare Kate's-mountain clover.

In spring, the trails boast a stunning display of wild phlox, Virginia bluebell, pinxter flower, and flame azalea. Visitors should take the time to breathe deeply while climbing the terraced herb garden and enjoy the serenity of a wooded swale carpeted with New York, hay-scented, ostrich, marginal shield, and Christmas ferns.

The Arboretum's forested slopes and lowland swales are a haven for many tree species native to the mid-Appalachians, including the rare and endangered round-leaf birch (Betula uber).

SCHOOLS

Childcare and Education Resources for Graduate Students with Children in Harrisonburg

For graduate students who have children, especially international students, the following resources can assist with childcare and education in Harrisonburg.

The International Student and Scholar Services (ISSS) has compiled a list of resources to help international students and scholars find childcare in Harrisonburg. If you are a member of JMU's larger faculty and staff community and are looking for childcare, you may want to refer to the Young Children's Program.

For Children Aged 0-5 Years

There are several options for finding someone to watch your young child. These options include:

- Home-based daycare
- Center-based daycare
- Preschool
- Private nanny/babysitter

The hours and schedules of childcare providers vary. Most offer full-time care, and some provide care during weekends or holidays.

Prices in Harrisonburg typically range from $150/week to $250/week.

Home-based child care is often less expensive than center-based care. However, availability is very limited, and many families find themselves on a waitlist for several months before a space becomes available for their child or children.

For more detailed information on available childcare options, the ISSS provides specific recommendations and resources that can help you navigate the childcare system in Harrisonburg.

By exploring these options and planning ahead, you can find a suitable childcare arrangement that meets your needs and helps ensure a smooth experience for both you and your child.

The following resources are a good place to start your search for child care in Harrisonburg:

- Google “Childcare in Harrisonburg/Rockingham” to see current childcare facilities
- Begin your search for local nannies and babysitters at Care.com and at SitterCity.com

For Children 5-18 Years Old

- Public Education in the United States

Public schools are funded by the state government, which means students in grades K- 12 do not pay tuition. Generally, schools are divided into elementary schools, middle schools, and high schools.

Elementary schools are composed of students in kindergarten and grades 1-5. Most children attend kindergarten when they are five-years-old. Middle school is composed of students in grades 6-8 and high school contains grades 9-12.

The public school your child will attend is determined by where you live.

Harrisonburg City Schools

Rockingham County Schools

- After School Programs

School days end between 3-3:30 p.m. If you need care for your child after these hours, there are different programs available that may help.

Boys and Girls Club of Harrisonburg has different activities including fitness programs and tutoring/homework help.

Second Home Learning Center offers before and after school care, including tutoring and enrichment activities.

Harrisonburg City Public Schools has several after school programs.
